Message from Presidents' Alliance Co-Chairs and Executive Director:

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

In December 2017, we started the Presidents' Alliance with 29 presidents and chancellors who wanted to address the urgent immigration issues impacting their students, campuses, communities, and the nation. Now, as we mark our fifth anniversary as an organization, we have more than 550 member institutions in 43 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

Our growth in just five years is a testament to your commitment as higher education leaders to an educational system in which immigration status is not a barrier to success and international students are welcomed on our campuses and in our nation.

During the final months of 2022, we came the closest to immigration reform as we have been in the past ten years. Senators Kyrsten Sinema of Arizona and Thom Tillis of North Carolina negotiated a potential compromise that included both Dream and border security legislation and would have provided permanent protections and legal status for approximately two million undocumented students and other Dreamers - both with and without DACA.

While we were greatly disappointed that the compromise was not included in the omnibus spending bill, we were deeply heartened by the engagement of our members, who wrote op-eds, held campus events, engaged with their Senators, and came to D.C. to make the case for permanent protections for Dreamers.

Without legislative action to protect Dreamers and with the Supreme Court likely, in the future, to uphold the 5th Circuit's ruling that DACA is unconstitutional, we will need to redouble efforts on behalf of these students, working with all our allies and partners in higher education and the business, civic and faith communities. We hope to build on the core support we all helped generate in the last Congress, even as we acknowledge that achieving this important goal will take the sustained effort of us all.

We are seeing our work come to fruition on other fronts. In January, the Biden Administration announced the launch of Welcome Corps, a new program that will allow individuals and organizations, including colleges and universities, to privately sponsor refugees. The announcement of private sponsorship—including sponsorship opportunities for colleges and universities—is a transformational moment for refugee access to U.S. higher education, as it creates an education and immigration pathway that has never existed in the U.S. and one for which our Alliance has been a leading voice.

2022 also saw an increase in the federal government's pairing of Temporary Protected Status (TPS) with Special Student Relief (SSR), which the Presidents' Alliance and others have long advocated for as a means of offering protection to international students whose home countries are experiencing a crisis. To date, nationals of 17 countries may access SSR or SSR/TPS benefits, resulting in over a half million TPS and 21,000 potential recipients of SSR. Additionally, the Department of State extended visa interview waivers for international students and scholars through 2023 and made commitments to further improve visa processing, which we also have been pressing for.

Our future agenda is ambitious, and we need your continued support and engagement. In 2023, we will work vigorously to pursue both administrative action and bipartisan legislative opportunities to support undocumented students and permanent protections for Dreamers, while advancing greater efforts at the state and campus levels. We will seize the current opportunity to increase refugee student access to U.S. higher education by mobilizing colleges and universities to enroll and support refugee and displaced students through both private sponsorship and other immigration pathways. We will build on the successes achieved for international students and pursue policy changes to better attract and retain talented students and scholars from around the world to come study, stay, and contribute here in the U.S.

As we wrap up our first five years as an organization and look forward to the next, we know that none of our work would be possible without all of you – our members, partners, and supporters. Thank you for being a part of our Alliance!

Sincerely,

Who We Are

The Presidents’ Alliance is a nonpartisan, nonprofit education and advocacy organization. As the only national organization exclusively focused on the intersection of higher education and immigration, we engage higher education leaders to support forward-looking immigration policies and practices.

FEDERAL

The Presidents’ Alliance is a key player among advocates working on immigration policies impacting Dreamers - both with and without DACA. Our federal activities in 2022 focused on a pathway to citizenship or permanent residency for Dreamers via bipartisan legislation and Administrative actions that can increase access to higher education and career development opportunities for undocumented students.

STATE

With legislative gridlock at the federal level, we focused on creating and sharing resources and building coalitions to address state-level issues. The passage of Prop 308 in Arizona, which gives undocumented students access to in-state tuition and financial aid, suggests that state actions can be a successful approach for improved policies that support undocumented students.

Spotlight Initiative: The State Equity Table

The State Equity Table brings together 15 national and state organizations to coordinate support for expanding or defending in-state tuition, financial aid, and licensure policies for undocumented and refugee students. Table members share intelligence about legislative proposals and other efforts and produce resources that can be used by state advocates, campuses, and other stakeholders.

HIGHER ED IMMIGRATION PORTAL

The Higher Ed Immigration Portal has become a go-to source for colleges and universities, students, and national and state partners to learn more about state policies, enrollments in higher education, economic data, and effective practices and resources related to immigrant and international students in higher education.

Through developing and curating content for the Higher Ed Immigration Portal, we brought to light key issues pertaining to undocumented, refugee, and international students and alumni including:

- ✓ Intersectionality for international-and immigrant-origin students
- ✓ Resources for undocumented students on campuses-with and without DACA
- ✓ The impact of Optional Practical Training changes on campuses and their ability to attract and retain international students
- ✓ State policy issue briefs on in-state tuition, state financial aid, and licensure for undocumented and refugee students.

CAMPUS

Last year, we developed resources to help campuses become more inclusive of undocumented students and curated spaces for practitioners who work with undocumented students to connect. Our webinar, “Uplifting Campus Resources: Effective Practices to Support Undocumented Students in Higher Education” had almost 1,000 registrants, demonstrating the strong need to support practitioners engaged in this work and share resources across institutions.

SUCCESS CONVENING

In March, we held the SUCCESS Convening–Supporting Undocumented Students’ College Access and Career Equity–Strategies for SUCCESS.

200 people from 67 institutions and organizations attended. Many attendees refer to that event as a key opportunity to build partnerships with practitioners with similar interests and work. Building on the SUCCESS convening, we are launching in 2023 a community of practice for campus practitioners who work with undocumented students. We will hold the next SUCCESS convening in 2024.

COMING TO THE PORTAL IN 2023!

- Updated data estimates on immigrant-origin students—including undocumented students—in higher education and undocumented students graduating from U.S. high schools
- Communities of practice to support practitioners working with undocumented students and campuses seeking to enroll and support refugee/displaced students
- Private institutions data tool to explain the admissions and financial aid policies and identify key campus support services for undocumented students at private colleges and universities

International Students

As a result of our persistent outreach with Congress and the Administration, U.S. higher education institutions are better positioned to compete for international students. Although we still have more work ahead, our advocacy has helped to streamline the visa process for international students and scholars and has built awareness in Congress of the need for legislative solutions to avoid losing talent to other competitors.

KEY VICTORIES INCLUDE:

- The Department of State extended visa interview waivers through 2023 and made commitments to further improve visa processing.
- Temporary Protected Status (TPS) designations and Special Student Relief (SSR) announcements are increasing as the Administration makes more country-specific assessments. They are being published at the same time, making it easier for international students from impacted countries to study and remain in the U.S.
- A Congressional letter to the Department of State signed by more than 40 members of Congress commended progress on the visa process and urged that efficiencies continue.

Executive Director Miriam Feldblum and Senior Advisor Jill Welch, along with other partners, meet with Julie Stufft, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Visa Services Bureau of Consular Affairs about student visa processing.

Refugee Students

The Biden Administration recently launched Welcome Corps, a program that would allow individuals and organizations to sponsor refugees directly in what the State Department is calling “the boldest innovation in refugee resettlement in four decades.” The program will have an education component, allowing refugee students to simultaneously enroll in U.S. higher education and be admitted to the U.S. as a refugee with a path to permanent residency. The inclusion of an education pathway in the plans for a private sponsorship program is a true testament to the momentum built by the Presidents’ Alliance and our partners over the past two years through our RESPONSE Campaign (Refugee Sponsorship for Education), for which we were recognized as a finalist in the PIONEER of the Year Award.

Complementing our work on college and university sponsorship, the Presidents’ Alliance expanded resources, expertise, and technical assistance to institutions enrolling and supporting displaced and refugee students.
